KEYNOTE ADDRESS BY Dr. Michael Heneise, Centre for South Asian Studies, University of Edinburg

Panel Discussion on the theme: Date: 11th April, 2017 Time: 11:30 To 12:30

Mr. Pankaj Teron chaired the panel discussion and introduced the theme. THE PANELISTS OF THE DISCUSSION WERE MR. DHARAMSING Teron, Mr. S. Pait and Dr. Michael Heinese. The Panel Discussion began with Mr. S. Pait starting off the discussion. Mr. Pait spoke on the theme – “Doing Tribal History of the North East India: Challenges and prospects”, outlining customs and traditions of the different tribal living in the North East India. Next Dharamsing Teron deliberated on the theme highlighting the indigenous Karbi ethnic history. He noted that while doing history we have to look upon the folklore, culture, religious practices and oral tradition of a particular tribe. His discussion suggested that the Karbi history is centred to the North East Studies. Then Mr. Heinese deliberated on the theme, noting that the critical studies have been undermining structure like institutions. He encouraged all to be critical historians.

Then, in Question hour session, a few questions were raised by the participants on the issue of tribal history. Mr. S. Pait one of the penalists answered to some of the questions with the help of contextual examples. Dr. M. Heinese spoke on the issue of research and its fruitfulness, in reference to a question raised by Mr. Porag Sharma Dept of English, EASTERN KARBI ANGLONG COLLEGE. He stressed on the need of becoming a passionate critical thinker. Mr. Dharamsing Teron elaborated on the issue of marginalization of communal history in the process of domination history as raised by Mr. Bedabrata Bora, Dept. of English EASTERN KARBI ANGLONG COLLEGE. With this the discussion the session cameto an end.

FIRST TECHNICAL SESSION

Moderated by Mr. Siddhartha Pait, Asst. Professor, Dept. Of History, Dibrugarh University

Bhruigumoni Nath Asstt. Prof. Dept. of History traced the history of Buddhism in his paper entitled Impact of Buddhism. In this paper he emphasised the relevance of Buddhism in the central of modern world. He gave importance in his paper the rituals of the tai-khamiyang society which are in the brink of oblivion due to lack of practice and also due mainly to lack of exposure. Tai-Khamiyang also excelled in weaving and in various crafts which have not been explored properly and so the outside world is not aware of it.

Rajdeep Bora, in his paper tried to explain the basic concept of Mathematics in the light of a tribal Society. In his paper he in explicit terms tried to define what is called golden rectangle. Golden rectangle played a very crucial role in human body and also in maintaining harmony in a tribal society.

Anita Das, in her paper 'Local Self Government in Assam' is threw light on the nature of self-government adopted through Panchayatiraj System. In her paper it was described how local self-government adopted a very crucial role in minimising local disputes among the people. Correct administrative measures can be taken through the local self-government. She in her paper explained how different administrative parts like 'Saikia' 'Hazarika' were created during Ahom rule to settle local disputes among the people. She also elaborated in her paper how institutions like 'Namghar' played a very significant role in the society in ushering an era of harmony and good will. Reservation system is serving as a bridge in reducing gap between the privileged and under privilege classes in the society and she dully gave prominence to it.

 24/3/22
 Dr. Anil Ch. Das, Principal
 Eastern Karbi Anglong College
 Sarihajan, Karbi Anglong.

Aditya Gogoi, in his paper stressed on preserving the traditional values of a tribal society as these traditions are on the verge of being extinction due to lack of proper initiative to preserve them. In this paper sufficient importance was attached to various departmental works being initiated by the District Council of Karbi Anglong but it is a matter of much concern that these developmental works have not reached the common people and as much they have still remained deprived of the basic needs of life. He in his paper mentioned about the various provisions the constitution of India has granted to the areas of the six schedules so that these backward areas can make progress along with the rest of the part of the country. He identified various factors responsible for the sluggishness in the development of the region.

Anand Khati in his paper dwelt on the education system prevailing in the North Eastern region of India in general and Karbi Anglong in particular. Education, according to him, is a strong tool to bring about drastic changes to the society. He in his paper explained that more than 60% people are still languishing under poverty and this situation has been aggravated the strikingly alarming high rate of illiteracy. Problem of connectivity is another major hurdle in the path of scorching the light of education to the remotest places in Karbi Anglong and this has been resulted in imparting quality education in Karbi Anglong: He also forwarded in his paper some remedial measures to do away with the problem which have corroded the Karbi Society both economically and academically. Certificates have been issued to these participants at the end of the session.

He further opined that the topic chosen for the seminar bears significance and can be of help to the students. He advised the students to get their paper published in some journals. Dr. Das felt pleased to inform the students that his Ph.D thesis was related to the Karbi society and culture. Dr. Nayan Moni Medhi inspired the students by presenting a paper on "The Social Status of Karbi Women". The paper highlighted the socio-economic and over-all status of the Karbi women.

Three students of the department, namely, Saraswati Deb, Deepjyoti Saha, and Neha Gupta presented their papers on "Festivals of the Karbi People", "The Funeral Rite of the Karbi Tribe" and "The Dress and Ornaments of the Karbi People" respectively. The teachers of the department present on the seminar then offered their critical views on the papers presented by the students. The students made the seminar successful by raising some relevant questions related to the topic. The session came to an end with the proposing of vote of thanks by Ms Anamika Acharyya, Asst. Professor, dept.of Assamese.

(10) Report of the one day workshop on "NAAC Revised Accreditation Framework and Strategies for Improving Quality of HEI Organized by Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), Eastern Karbi Anglong College

24/3/22
Dr. Anil Ch. Das, Principal
Eastern Karbi Anglong College
Sarihajan, Karbi Anglong.

To know the nitty-gritty of NAAC and its assessment procedure, a one day Workshop “NAAC Revised Accreditation Framework and Strategies for Improving Quality of HEI” was organized on 15/09/2021 at the college premises with Prof. Utpal Sarma, Dept. of Instrumentation and USIC, Gauhati University graced the function as the Resource person. The Principal of EASTERN KARBI ANGLONG COLLEGE served as the facilitator between the teaching faculty and the resource person. While interacting with the teaching faculty of the college, the resource person enlightened them by throwing sufficient light on some grey areas which remained unexplored till then. He exchanged views with the faculty members on different aspects of the SSR and advised each and every member to keep themselves well abreast with the guidelines of NAAC.

The workshop considerably helped the teaching faculty of EASTERN KARBI ANGLONG COLLEGE in acquainting themselves with different steps ingrained in the preparation of the SSR and also helped in developing a positive outlook to shoulder any responsibility entrusted upon them.

The resource person duly emphasized on the importance of working in tandem among different Cells of an institutional so that proper cooperation can easily be materialized among its members.

Moments of the presence of the Resource Person, Principal, Eastern Karbi Anglong College and teachers attending the meeting

Outcomes:

The workshop unraveled a host of snarled issues and enabled the faculty members to acquire some first-hand knowledge about these areas which would surely go a long way in the preparation of the SSR.

Dr. Anil Ch. Das, Principal
Eastern Karbi Anglong College
Sarihajan, Karbi Anglong.

The workshop proved very effective in infusing a sense of dedication into the mindset of the faculty members as they felt assured that they would be able to overcome the fear psychosis which occasionally hinders them from going ahead with any NAAC related activities.

The resource person's clarion call on arranging things in a systematic manner immensely motivated the teaching faculty and his inspiring words truly enabled them to shed off their lethargy and plunge into action with dedicated minds.

The resource person also took times to elucidate the much hyped seven points criteria and threw sufficient light on how to arrange the available data in an impeccable way.

The resource person could instill a new impetus into the minds of faculty members to work in unison for elevating the College to a remarkable height.
